Updates to Chapter 10 DME Oman Crude Oil Futures Contract

The Dubai Mercantile Exchange Limited ("DME") would like to thank all participants who reviewed the proposals and submitted comments in response to Consultation Paper ("CP") 09-002. Following expiration of this consultation period, comments are now being considered by DME staff for inclusion in the rulebook, in a process which is expected to take several weeks. Depending upon whether there are material changes to the proposals in CP 09-002, a second consultation process may be initiated.

Any changes remain subject to final approval from the DME Board and the Dubai Financial Services Authority. Following these approvals, DME will publish the final rule changes and the effective date of those changes through a Notice to Members. This Notice to Members will be published with sufficient time to allow market participants to make adjustments to their systems for both trading and delivery purposes.
